

Another visit to D. G. Nicholas building on Trinity Place

S. Robert
Powell <srp18407@gmail.com>

3:01 PM, January 6,
2014

to Alan, Alex, Alice, Barbara, Frederick, Henry, James, Jeffrey, John, Matthew, Michele, Ruthanne

January 6, 2015

Dear Colleagues:

Discussions are underway about the very exciting possibility of establishing a market in downtown Carbondale similar to some of the markets in Lancaster County and the Reading Terminal Market in downtown Philadelphia. The Historical Society has been a part of those discussions.

To that end, preliminary visits have taken place to the D. G. Nicholas building on Trinity Place. Another visit to that site by the Directors of the Historical Society and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce is now needed to stimulate additional planning options and possibilities. A visit to the D. G. Nicholas site, at a time convenient to all concerned, in the next ten days would be good.

I have asked Historical Society Board of Directors member Michele Bannon to contact all concerned individuals to determine the best time for such a visit.

These are exciting times for Carbondale. The sky's the limit.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell